Brand Information and Quotations from Brand Owners

About The Brands
Beauty & Wellness
   “Through this platform, Eu Yan Sang Singapore hopes to support Singapore government's initiative to support our local brands and further reinforce ourselves as a quality local brand to both our local customers and tourists.” — Serene Seow, Managing Director	Eu Yan Sang Eu Yan Sang has been a trusted brand in Singapore for centuries, but selling Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) wasn't always its core purpose. Founded by Eu Kong and succeeded by his son Eu Tong Sen, Eu Yan Sang was born out of a desire to take care of the tin mining workers working for them, who had a variety of ailments that required treatment. The medical business quickly surpassed the tin mining business, growing into the familiar TCM brand Singaporeans know today. With a weighty name that means ‘caring for mankind’, it’s no surprise that Eu Yan Sang’s herbal products and healthcare services continue to keep the founder’s values alive and well.
   “We are excited about this initiative to be connected to fellow local entrepreneurs and look forward to synergistic partnerships. We are proud to be in this city fuelled with passion and pride, and it is so important that we come together as a community at this time.” - Yvon Bock, CEO	Hegen Hegen is an innovative baby-feeding product enterprise, born out of genuine empathy for and understanding of motherhood. The founders, Yvon and Leon Bock, started Hegen after becoming parents, because they felt strongly about wanting to improve the breastfeeding experience for mothers. Ultimately, Hegen aims to empower women through this demanding but beautiful journey, by developing award-winning products with uncompromising safety standards. The dream? To meaningfully impact the lives of breastfeeding mothers in Singapore and abroad.

 “Singapore is never too small to curate awesome brands.” — Cheryl Gan, Founder	HYSESSES HYSESSES (乡术, meaning 'arts from the village') began with a simple wish of sharing nature's gifts with the world. Tirelessly scouring the Earth for natural ingredients, HYSESSES believes that every aromatherapy product should pay tribute to its roots for an authentic experience.
KINOHIMITSU FREEDOM TO LIVE “Everyone please support Singaporean brands, our success stories must start right here at home” -- Kristin Chong, Managing Director	Kinohimitsu Kinohimitsu is a homegrown, functional beauty and wellness brand that was founded in 1998. Fuelled by the desire to improve lives, the brand offers a holistic range of products that cater to a variety of needs: from concerns around premature ageing, to acne-prone skin, to digestive issues. All Kinohimitsu products are produced under the strictest quality standards and are 100% natural – with no added sugar, preservatives, artificial colouring, and more.
 “We can be part of a Singapore brand narrative which is open, empowering and embracing.” — Jamal Kazura, Founder	Sifr Aromatics Sifr Aromatics is a niche, independent perfume shop, established in Singapore in 2010 by Johari Kazura. Hailing from a long line of perfumers, Johari's passion for aromatics is one that runs deep in his blood. After a sabbatical in the mecca of the perfume world - Grasse, France - Johari decided to branch off from the family business, but not without his own spin. By blending ancient and modern techniques, he infuses heritage with modernity into each concoction, whether it's a customised blend, a scented soy-wax candle or a home fragrance.

 “As a young company, it is an amazing opportunity to stand alongside institutional brands in Singapore that have carved out success both locally and internationally”. — Sam Mangla, Founder	customers transform ordinary living spaces into extraordinary places.
 “This initiative will boost the international standing of our home grown brands and in introducing them through the Made With Passion campaign, entrench Singapore’s reputation as a city of innovation, good design and happiness”. — Mike Tay, Founder	Onlewo Founded by Mike Tay - one of Singapore’s Top 50 Most Influential Designers as accredited by Tatler Homes in 2016 - Onlewo is a brand that artfully weaves nostalgia into modern designs. Mike celebrates Singapore’s rich and colourful identity, by reimagining Singapore-inspired motifs on fashion, lifestyle and home-decor products.
 “Perceptions towards Singapore brands have improved over the past few years and more and more quality and award-winning designs are being put out there by Singaporean designers”. — Jessica Wong and Pamela Ting, Co-Founders	SCENE SHANG SCENE SHANG was started by Jessica Wong and Pamela Ting, who met in junior college. But it wasn’t until their internships in Shanghai, where they were flatmates, that they realised that they both enjoyed decorating their spaces with meaningful pieces of culture. Seeing that Singapore needed a brand to tell of its rich history, Jessica and Pamela began creating pieces that were heritage-inspired, yet forward-looking. Today, SCENE SHANG is a furniture and lifestyle label that’s driven by the belief that home is where culture begins.

"We will be ready, not only as individual brands but as a collective of Singaporean brands to present Singapore to the world when it opens up"

— Edwin Low, Founder

Supermama

To many people, pottery is a hobby and nothing more. But for 'super mother' Mei Ling and husband Edwin, it became their life's calling to share their love for this art form with the world. Throughout the last decade, the couple's creative passion led to many sacrifices – including selling their home to kick-start the business. But it sure paid off: today, Supermama is a leading light in the Singapore design scene, turning pottery and porcelain into truly special pieces of art to own.

Fashion & Accessories
  BAJU BY ONIATTA  “Made with Passion is an exciting initiative, one that is so necessary in a time like this. While we continue to hustle as creatives in a strange world, it’s great to know that our fervour, spirit and energy do not go unnoticed.” - Oniatta Effendi, Founder	Baju by Oniatta Baju by Oniatta is a clothing line dedicated to reimagining Batik for the modern wardrobe. As a fan of traditional textiles herself, founder Oniatta Effendi fell in love with the rich symbolism and narratives behind the fabric and its craft. Today, she promotes the fabled fabric in Singapore and beyond – by designing exquisitely stylish and incredibly comfortable everyday clothing for the modern woman.
 BYND ARTISAN   “It is with today’s thinkers, dreamers and doers that we hope to share the remarkable output of some of Singapore’s greatest practicing craftsmen.” — James Quan, Chairman and Winnie Chan, CEO of Bynd Artisan	Bynd Artisan Bynd Artisan is a unique experiential brand that offers personalization on a wide array of leather and paper products, through collaborations with local brands and creatives, and by conducting intimate crafting workshops. Established by Winnie Chan and James Quan, the brand was founded on their family’s 73-year-old legacy of leather craftsmanship and exquisite bookmaking. With multiple ateliers featuring craftsmen who are able to customize leather products on the spot, Bynd Artisan continues to make its mark through excellence and expertise.

CARRIE K. "It is only when we develop deep roots in our own homeground nourished by local pride, can we flourish beyond Singapore. We're honoured to be part of this initiative." — Carolyn Kan, Founder	Carrie K During a year off the corporate race, Carolyn Kan took time to learn silversmithing in Florence. And that's what inspired her to start Carrie K. Artisan Jewellery in 2009. Carrie K. creates modern heirloom jewellery with a twist by turning "traditional" materials, such as jade and pearl, into meaningful designs that celebrate life's milestones. With eye-catching pieces such as her reinvention of the classic pearl necklace, it is no wonder that she's won numerous awards since the brand's inception.
CHARLES & KEITH	CHARLES & KEITH CHARLES & KEITH is a footwear and accessories retailer founded in 1996, with a vision of empowering women to express themselves through accessible yet stylish fashion. Through its curated collections available both online and in stores, this local brand's ambition is to spread the Singapore name beyond the region, to the far reaches of the world.
 EDEN + ELIE	EDEN + ELIE EDEN + ELIE is a design-led, socially conscious jewellery brand based in Singapore. With a mission to provide jobs to communities in need, they work with local organisations to develop individuals with autism into skilled artisans, empowering them to live more independently. The brand honours centuries-old traditions of making things by hand through modern pieces inspired by heritage. In a world proliferated with industrialised products, their jewellery is a testament to slower times, when love was embedded in beautiful, meticulously crafted heirloom pieces.

FAIRE LEATHER CO. 'It's important to be part of an initiative that celebrates the hard work that each and every local brand puts in their business - it is not merely the artisanal or product aspect, it is also the entrepreneurial spirit to ensure that every element from brand and marketing all the way to customer service is done with passion.' — Ryan Choy, Founder, Head of Branding and Marketing	Faire Leather Co. Faire Leather Co. is an online leather goods label that redefines true value as Functional Luxury. Founded by Joseph Lor and Ryan Choy, Faire is also the most funded fashion kickstarter in Singapore and hit their 2 year goal of $1,000,000 in under 10 months. Tapping traditional know-how from decades of heritage and experience with real-time feedback and data, Faire creates stylish products designed for maximum function.
GINLEE "To congregate, stand together and show our support as one of many excellent Singapore brands, to fly the Singapore flag high and proud!" — Gin Lee, Director	GINLEE Studio Founded in 2011 by designers Gin Lee and Tamir Niv, GINLEE Studio stems from the artful cross-pollination of diverse cultures, disciplines, and passions. Calling both Singapore and Israel their homes, the founders' unique life experiences have shaped the way that they design their clothing. The dream? To create beautiful, thoughtfully crafted pieces that will be mainstays in anyone's wardrobe.
Love, Bonito	Love, Bonito Designed for the key moments and milestones of a modern woman's life, Love, Bonito's assortment features stylish pieces for home, work, and play. Today, it is the largest vertically integrated, omni-channel women's fashion brand in the region. And in the coming years, Love, Bonito plans to expand both locally as well as internationally: touching the lives of more women through community events, experiential retail, and more.

 PAZZION Fabulously You “PAZZION is proud to be part of this initiative that celebrates local brands and is honoured to be selected as one of the Singapore brands that stands for passion for our craft.” — Tom Ng, Director	PAZZION PAZZION ensures effortlessly stylish shoes for all occasions, backed by high-quality leather and exceptional craftsmanship; perfect for the modern women. PAZZION caters to the modern, sophisticated trendsetter with an uncompromising standard for taste and quality.  RECKLESS ERICKA “There has never been a more crucial time to aggressively support Singapore businesses. We are excited about this initiative and look forward to grow and glean from this community. May we never give up on what sparked our passion in the first place and have the courage to live out the purpose for such a time as this.” — Afton Chen, Director	RECKLESS ERICKA Intelligent design, responsible production, and a reckless spirit: these three fundamentals form the foundation of Singaporean fashion label, RECKLESS ERICKA. Helmed by founding designer and adventurous soul, Afton Chen, the brand combines fashion and function with creative silhouettes and bold prints. With its audacious spirit and quality craftsmanship, RECKLESS ERICKA continues to make waves by representing Singapore on the global fashion stage.

	The Shirt Bar With experience designing and producing for leading international clothing brands, the team behind The Shirt Bar realised that good shirts come at a price - one that is not quite accessible. This inspired them to design shirts that offer value, alongside great design, quality, comfort, and durability. Today, The Shirt Bar prides itself in responsible sourcing, ethical manufacturing, and innovative designing – paying attention to all the little details that make a huge difference to customers and creators alike. “Singapore brands are indeed passionate about what they do. They are enterprising and resourceful. We have our challenges but that encourages us to innovate, be creative, and relentless in our pursuits to overcome our challenges and forge ahead.” — Serene Ang, Founder
Packaged F&B
	awfullychocolate Back in 1998, the founders of awfullychocolate decided to bring back a humble but classic favourite, chocolate cake. What started as a single-minded idea, quickly evolved into a flourishing enterprise that has since entered the packaged goods market with a variety of delectable, chocolate-based goodies. Today, the business may have diversified, but the obsession with crafting indulgent chocolate treats remains as strong as day one. “We joined Made With Passion to be part of a Singapore brand narrative which is open, empowering and embracing.” — Lyn Lee, Founder
	Bee Cheng Hiang In 1933, Teo Swee Ee began Bee Cheng Hiang as a street hawker in Chinatown, selling ‘bak kwa’ or freshly barbecued meat. Unbeknownst to him then, he had introduced Singapore to a snack that would be loved by generations to come. Today, the brand continues to take pride in the key tenets symbolised in its name: appearance (美), flavour (珍), and smell (香). That is why its well-protected, world-renowned recipe retains the use of 100% natural “Singaporean brands are known for their trusted quality.”

— Daniel Wong, Group General Manager	ingredients, without any added preservatives, artificial flavouring or colouring.
  "I think it's wonderful that these local brands are being showcased and recognised as the best of Singapore, what passion, perseverance, tenacity and adaptability can lead to, uniquely Singaporean brands, to be proud of!" — Henry Liew, Director	Bengawan Solo What is now a Singaporean mainstay, was once a small, humble home bakery cooked up by founder Anastasia Liew. According to her, Bengawan Solo's recipe for success is a good mix of acumen, hard work, and perseverance. Even after 40 years, this heritage brand remains committed to handmaking some of Singapore's most iconic confectionaries daily, such as its famous "ondeh ondeh", ensuring consistency and quality through the decades.
  BRASS LION DISTILLERY "It's great that there is such a platform to curate and showcase local brands who are passionate about their craft. We are looking forward to collaborating with like-minded brands and hopefully create something exciting from this!" — Jamie Koh, Founder and CEO	Brass Lion Distillery A curiosity for gin distillation, combined with a desire for Singaporean-flavoured spirits, became the catalyst for the inception of Brass Lion Distillery in 2012. After years of dedication to the process, founder Jamie K. finally launched the first full-fledged distillery in Singapore. Today, it leads the nation's gin industry with flagship, Asian-inspired flavours that retail in over 200 venues, and a beautiful space for anyone who wants to give gin-making a go.
  "We need to do work to uncover local brands and we also need more organised and bigger platforms like Made With Passion to showcase this side of Singapore brands." — Tan Wee Han, Co-owner and CEO	Brewerkz Brewerkz helped kickstart Singapore's craft beer story in 1997. Bringing full-flavoured fun to the local indie beverage scene, Brewerkz's constant flow of tasty experimental beers are a product of their love for exploration and a passion for the artisanal craft. As a true original, this home-grown brand is dedicated to creating exciting experiences to tickle the senses of craft beer lovers anywhere in the world.

 "We are very proud to be associated with other outstanding Singapore brands, to be marketed as one collective proud Singapore brand." — Poh Shih Yun, Director	CAMEL What started as a small backyard nut-roasting business almost 50 years ago, is now a familiar household name in Singapore. This, of course, is thanks to the hard work and commitment of CAMEL's founders Poh Ah Seng and Ong Siew Hua. Inspired by their sincerity and dedication, the brand continues to deliver the finest quality nuts and snacks – both in Singapore and abroad.
FOSSA CHOCOLATE "The strength of one is limited but in a pack, it's boundless. As a maker ourselves, we are proud to be part of this community celebrating and supporting local brands" — Yilina Leong, Business and Marketing Director	Fossa Chocolate Fossa Chocolate is the only bean-to-bar company from Singapore to be acclaimed at the International Chocolate Awards. Its team of chocolate makers showcase their passion through every step in the making process, right from using sustainably sourced, specialty-grade cacao beans, down to incorporating unexpected flavours like seaweed, salted egg, and lychee. The result? Chocolate that has greater depth, clarity, texture, intensity – and above all, memorability.
GRYPHON[®] TEA COMPANY "This initiative is a recognition of spirited entrepreneurs building quality brands with a common mission; Made with Passion." — Lim Tian Wee, Director	Gryphon Tea Company Gryphon Tea Company believes drinking tea is like travelling – every experience offers a chance for discovery. Created in 2006 with the aim of sparking tea appreciation in Singapore, the brand has since become a leader in its category. It regularly inspires tea makers and lovers with its new and unique blends, made with everything from botanicals to fruits and Turkish spices.

 “As a locally homegrown brand, JANICE WONG is excited to be a part of the Singapore Tourism Board’s Made With Passion initiative as we celebrate those who bring to life the Singapore spirit of turning possibilities into reality. As we continue to progress in our brand’s journey, we look forward to supporting the growth of our fellow local brands in the community” - Janice Wong	JANICE WONG SINGAPORE Chef Janice Wong believes in testing the limits of dessert-making, marrying pastry with fashion, design and art. The multi award-winning chef launched her eponymous sweet boutiques concept, JANICE WONG SINGAPORE, in 2014, delighting Singaporeans with her colourful and mouth-watering treats across her retail stores islandwide. From edible art to Chocolate Crayons, her re-imagined confectionaries such as her Signature Chocolate Bon Bons to serving up gastronomic dessert experiences at her restaurant, 2am:dessertbar, Janice’s never-ending passion for culinary art has propelled her forward as a designer, artist, chef and imagineer.
 “The initiative comes at the right time as we are talking about self sustainability during pandemic. It is time to recognize and celebrate Singaporean brands!” — Alvin Choo, Business Development	Kwong Cheong Thye About a century ago, Choo Cheong Chan left China and set foot in Singapore in search of better opportunities. He set up the first Kwong Cheong Thye manufacturing soya sauce for food suppliers. His dedication to continuously improve, innovate, expand, and diversify paid off – today, Kwong Cheong Thye is a leading sauce maker and household name. Its range of soya sauce, chilli sauce, sesame oil, plum sauce, and more are used by over 90% of the top restaurants in Singapore, and are widely distributed in over 25 countries.

 “Singapore is a tiny red dot, but we are definitely not tiny when united. Singapore brands should come together to support one another, build our national brand equity on the international stage, and strengthen our local brand propositions of quality, safety and innovation.” — Ang Kiam Meng, JUMBO Group CEO & Executive Director	JUMBO Seafood JUMBO Seafood is a household name known for its iconic chilli crabs that are loved by locals and tourists alike. In the spirit of making their famous dishes more accessible, the brand now packages their sauces and mixes so that customers can bring home the same nostalgic experience and enjoy restaurant-quality food while surrounded by loved ones at home.
	Mr. Bucket Chocolaterie Mr. Bucket Chocolaterie was founded in the hopes of making bean-to-bar chocolate more accessible to the masses. The creators are constantly inspired by everyday conversations with local communities and the myriad of ingredients found around the region. Their passion is built on three key pillars: using sustainable Asian cacao, creating unique flavour pairings – and providing interesting gifting experiences to one and all.
 “I believe that a strong national brand mark will help our homegrown brands locally and internationally in time to come.” — Ang Kiam Meng, JUMBO Group CEO & Executive Director	NG AH SIO Bak Kut Teh The history of Ng Ah Sio Bak Kut Teh can be traced back to the early 1950s, when the founder’s father began selling the hearty soup in Singapore. Years later, this savoury, pork-based soup remains high on the list of the nation’s culinary treasures. Cooked with the same diligence and repackaged for accessibility, Ng Ah Sio’s robust peppery goodness can now be enjoyed even at home, through readily available retail packets.

“Everyone in this amazing group of Founders/business owners worked ridiculously hard to get where they/we are with our brands today. Not only is it such an honour for a young brand like ours to share this stage with some true household names here, it’s just incredibly powerful to have this stage at all, where we are all recognised nationally as brands to watch and a force to be reckoned with.”

- Ramya Ragupathi, Founder Of Oh My Goodness!

Oh My Goodness!

It began as a passion project in 2015 when Ramya developed her first gluten- and dairy-free cake. Blown away by its amazing taste and texture, her loved ones egged her on to start her own business because they felt Singapore simply had nothing like it. Today, Oh My Goodness! has grown to become the only certified gluten-free company in the region, making delicious and high quality gluten-free cakes, breads and other staples more readily available and conveniently enjoyable by all

“We want to encourage more local entrepreneurs to work towards building their dreams and set a good example for them as part of their learning curves.”

— Daniel Tay, Managing Director and Founder

Old Seng Choong

Founded by renowned local pastry chef Daniel Tay, Old Seng Choong offers traditional bakes and cakes for every joyous occasion. Named after the well-loved Seng Choong Confectionery (which was run by his parents for over 30 years), this brand pays homage to his father, the baker who sparked Daniel’s own culinary ambitions. Today, Old Seng Choong thrives on selling festive treats and nostalgic snacks, such as pandan chiffon cakes and cookies, but with a fun twist through local flavours like “Katong Breakfast” and “Laksa”.

 "It's passion that brought us to where we are, and the people that keep us going in this journey. We look forward to bringing more to the coffee community and beyond through this national initiative." -- Marcus Foo, CEO and Co-Founder	PPP Coffee People have always been the heart of PPP Coffee. Starting out as a small-batch specialty roaster in 2009, the founders lived off tips collected from strangers-turned-friends in a humble hideout at Hooper Road called 'Papa Palheta'. Today, the brand goes beyond the business of sourcing, roasting, and serving specialty coffee. They believe in creating meaningful connections through their crafts.
 "This is a great step for Singaporean brands, including the food manufacturing sector." — Eric Sim, General Manager	Prima Taste Launched in 1998, Prima Taste is a Singaporean household brand that takes local favourites and turns them global. Their extensive range of packaged food products includes ready-to-cook meal kits, premium noodle products, ready-to-eat meals and cooking sauces. With a strong reputation for authentic flavours and excellent quality, Prima Taste delivers fuss-free hawker fare to over 40 major markets, worldwide.

 "It's a great feeling to have like-minded brands from Singapore to travel with together. We are looking forward to the journey ahead." - Sharon Lee, Founder	Straits Preserves An abundance of tiny, ripe calamansi limes in her garden inspired founder Sharon Lee to create her first marmalade. This Asian-inspired recipe went on to win the prestigious World's Best International Marmalade Award in 2012. Buoyed by this early success, she began Straits Preserves – blending exotic fruits and nuts into spreads that have a strong link to Singapore's heritage. With unique, surprising flavours, these marmalades and nut butters promise to delight foodies in Asia and around the world.
 "Food and beer are inseparable, and this is even more so especially in Asia. Our motivation is to create beers for the Asian palate, hence it is important to include the taste profiles of Asian food fare as part of the considerations when we design our beers. With this Made With Passion initiative, it will not only allow us to heighten awareness on our work, but also provide us the opportunity to work with like-minded brands to come up with new and inspiring creations." — Ivan Yeo, Co-Founder and Executive Chef	The 1925 Brewing Co. The 1925 Brewing Co. was named after the birth year of the founders' role model: their grandfather. Continuing his spirit of excellence and craft, their concoctions never fail to invoke a sense of nostalgia. And they never feel incomplete either – as they are usually paired with innovative dishes that are inspired by Singapore's Teochew culture. They believe strongly in preserving their Singaporean Teochew heritage and culture, with the hope of building a business that would transcend generations.

 "It's an opportunity for us to show our customers how we can band together as a nation." — Chris Hwang, Co-Founder	The Golden Duck It all began with one bold flavour: salted egg. And just like that, The Golden Duck Co. started its mission to revitalise the Asian palate – with flavours like chilli crab, Sichuan Mala, Tom Yum Goong, and more. The Golden Duck's inventive spirit unlocked a whole new dimension in the gourmet snack category. And today, it continues to push the boundaries with an artful balance between respecting century-old recipes and creating entirely novel delicacies.
 "Made with Passion creates a platform that celebrates and unites Singapore brands built on passion—the very force that drives us here at The Soup Spoon. Our people are custodians of a deep passion and purpose to develop a balanced, sustainable approach to food and we're souper stoked to be part of this initiative." -- SouperChef Anna	The Soup Spoon In 2002, The Soup Spoon's founders set out to show the world that soup can indeed be centre stage in a meal. Taking pride in using exclusively natural ingredients with no preservatives, the quick-casual dining chain serves up an array of wholesome soups that are heartier and healthier than the usual canned fare. Besides sandwiches, salads and more in its in-store menu, The Soup Spoon also sells packaged food in supermarkets across Singapore. Now, clean and affordable comfort food is never too far away.
 "Being part of the brand mark is an opportunity to be grateful for and an exciting journey to embark on." — Ana Fong, General Manager	Tong Heng Tong Heng Delicacies, a brand trademarked for its diamond-shaped egg tarts, was incorporated since 1935 and set to share the joy of traditional pastries. Our pastries, modernised yet still handmade with passion, have been voted as the best in Singapore. Tong Heng's egg tarts, along with other local favourites are made entirely dairy-free and are the hallmarks of quality baked goods for locals and visitors alike.

 "I think this is a great and timely initiative to give our Singapore brands a leg-up in visibility and presence, both in Singapore and overseas. When Singapore enterprises do well, Singapore Inc wins." — Wong Peck Lin, Chief Milkmaid and Co-Founder	Udders Ice Cream Udders Ice Cream was started by husband-and-wife duo, David and Peck Lin, who shared the dream of creating Asian and alcoholic ice cream flavours that truly hit the spot. Known for its fun, sassy voice (and instantly recognisable bright orange hue), the brand has grown into a local favourite. After all, its range of ice creams stays light on cream and sugar, contains flavourful natural ingredients – and boasts one of the highest alcohol content in the category within Singapore. Today, Udders Ice Cream has 5 'milking outlets' and about 300 retail points in Singapore and has delighted people from all over the world onboard Singapore Airlines, Scoot, and Jetstar flights. Udders will be exporting to Indonesia, United Arab Emirates and Malaysia soon
	Violet Oon Singapore Violet Oon Singapore was co-founded by four individuals who shared a dream of building a brand that celebrates the myriad of flavours in Singaporean Peranakan cuisine. Expanding its culinary expertise beyond dining experiences, Violet Oon Singapore has become famous for its packaged gourmet delicacies. From tropical jams to traditional pineapple tarts, these Peranakan-inspired local delights are a commemoration of distinctively Singaporean flavours.
 "Singaporean brands are trusted, excellent and reliable" — Jeshier Loi, Director, Branding and Market Development	Ya Kun International Ya Kun International had its humble beginnings in the 1940s, as a Hainanese coffee stall famous for its aromatic black coffee and delectable kaya toast. Today, it has grown into a chain with signature offerings that continue to be a local's breakfast go-to. A symbol of Singapore's hard work and enduring spirit, Ya Kun International perseveres to share its passion with the world, for generations to come.
